An attempt has been made by General Wu Pei-fu to seize the Salt Gabelle Fund of Ichang, according to a report received here. He did not succeed.

Several thousand refugees from Ichang have arrived at Wuchang and are agitating for relief at the Governor's Yamen at Wuchang.

ARMY MEN TAKE NORMAN, MUNCIE NORTH FOR TRIAL

Escaped Prisoners Are Turned Over By U. S. Civil Authorities

Amos E. Norman and Henry Muncie made their final bow to Shanghai yesterday morning and, leaving behind the charges of jail breaking and assault for which they are accountable to the civil law, they are on their way to Tientsin as prisoners of the United States Army in custody of Sergeants J. W. Bateman and John Lavelle. They will answer charges of desertion from the 15th U.S. Infantry before a Court Martial at Tientsin after which they still may be held for the criminal charges pending against them in Shanghai.

Norman and Muncie were to have been called before U.S. Commissioner F. J. Schuhl yesterday for preliminary hearing on the charge of prison breaking, but as the charge of desertion is a prior offense, on request of the United States Army authorities they have been transferred from civil jurisdiction to the Army.

To conform with legal requirements a hearing was held at 8 o'clock yesterday morning before Commissioner Schuhl when a formal Court order was issued transferring custody of the prisoners from U. S. Marshal N. E. Lurton to the army officers. The prisoners left for Tientsin with their guard of two sergeants on the 9:30 o'clock train.

LABOR QUESTION STILL UNSOLVED BY LL. GEORGE

(Reuter's Service)

London, Oct. 3.—The experts who proceeded to Gairloch to discuss the unemployment problem and the industrial situation with Mr. Lloyd George spent a busy week-end, though their deliberations led to no concrete decisions, the Prime Minister intimating that he would first consult other groups in London.

The experts are very reticent but it is gathered that they favor a big and highly important concrete scheme regarding which they are very hopeful.

The Prime Minister has now arranged to deliver a half-hour address on unemployment tomorrow at Inverness on his way to London, at which, in order to save his voice, only pressmen will be present.

Washington, October 3.—President Harding has asked Governors and Mayors to organise machinery for the amelioration of unemployment, following the suggestions of the unemployment conference.

Missionary Meeting Is Not So Dry After All

By Wes Williams

Last night I changed my mind twice within fifteen minutes. I record this fact because I am not a woman. First I made up my mind to go to South Africa and then I decided to stay in Shanghai.

The reason for my sudden first decision to leave this flourishing metropolis to its fate was that I learned from a reliable authority that a fellow could earn enough in South Africa in nine months to keep him in idleness for eighteen months. But when I heard that the work in question was hard manual labor mussing around in coal or diamond mines, my enthusiasm started on the downward curve.

But I still clung to the prospects held out by the diamond mine till another fact was thrown into my face. All laborers are kept confined in barbed wire enclosures and searched most carefully by experts who know all the tricks of concealment. I might have stood for working with African blacks, the only color employed in these mines, but what was the use of trying to get past the dips.

All this mental turmoil and thrilling sensations I experienced at a missionary meeting. And I thought all such affairs were dry! I shall have to explain how it happened.

An acquaintance of mine who had my best interests at heart asked me to attend the regular meeting of the Shanghai Missionary Society. He probably knew how tempted every young man is during the first few months of residence in this wicked city. So to please him I cancelled an engagement to spend the evening in a friendly game of poker for I am always willing to try anything once. And while poker has thrills of the most thrilling sort, I knew I would get some of an entirely new variety.

NO DISGUISE NEEDED

I asked him if I would have to wear a white tie and dig up my moth eaten Prince Albert, but he said that that wasn't at all necessary. To wear such an outfit, he informed me, would surely spot me as the speaker of the evening.

"What do I do when we get there?" I asked my friend. "Just watch my hand and follow suit," he replied, "and you might throw away your cigar at the door and forget to use certain emphatic expressions of yours should anyone engage you in conversation. But I expect you'll be too busy to talk much for they always start their meetings with a free lunch."

MISSES FOOT RAIL

I had to ask a certain question but I shall give only the answer. "No, you poor fish, it's only coffee or tea. I suppose with no railing for your feet you'll feel lost."

There were ladies all about handing out 57 varieties of sandwiches and cake with the wash-downs he predicted. They were so gracious about the handouts that I felt compelled to be as accommodating as possible. I repeated several times and this kept me busy most of the time and out of dangerous conversational breaks.

Somebody must have had an eye on me for just about the time I was munching my fifteenth sandwich I heard the ringing of a little sheep's bell whereupon the whole crowd flocked to the big hall and sat down. I grabbed just one more cup of coffee off a tray which was being hurried to the rear. I, too, found a seat in the front row and waited for what next.

A 99 percent Scotsman opened the pot by introducing a fellow into the game whom I was sure I had met once upon a time in one of the second hand stores on South La Salle Street, Chicago, during a period of financial embarassment. But I was quite mistaken. He read a bit of theology which was too deep for me and offered a prayer in which he remembered the home folks.

After he sat down I was afraid the meeting would have to break up. The original speaker announced for the evening was not there owing to sickness. The

THANGAL STEEPS HANDS IN BLOOD OF HINDU FOLK

(Reuter's Service)

Calicut, Oct. 3.—The situation in eastern Ernad is still serious. The rebel leader Chambrasserie Thangal is reported to have declared martial law and to be killing every Hindu refusing to join Islam.

The rebels complain that the Hindus are helping the Government. Thousands of refugees have arrived at Manjeri where they are accommodated in shops. They tell terrible stories of barbarity, as, for example, that Chambrasserie flayed alive a man accused of supplying the military with milk.

The rebels are sheltering in the hills, from which they descend in the night to the villages where Moplah women supply them with food and beat drums when the military approach.

Oldest Young Folks Here; Youngest Old Ones, Too

By Elsie McCormick

WE received a letter yesterday which made us think. Letters occasionally do that, especially those which arrive on the first of the month. All those articles we have been reading lately about the instability of the dollar are more than verified by the brutal simultaneousness in the arrival of check and chits.

But the letter which set the wheels in our head to turning yesterday—no, we didn't quite mean that—anyway, the letter which cranked up our mentality was not the usual first of the month variety. It labelled China as the Land of Lost Youth, and wanted to know why nobody here jumps rope or plays Tick-Tack Toe.

AND ONLY FIFTY

"Is it true or is it just my personal feeling that the spirit of youth is entirely absent in China?" asks our correspondent. "I speak of the Chinese as well as of foreigners; of dogs and cats as well as of people. I have been many times where those young in years were dancing. I am fifty, but in spite of the jazz, the dancers seemed much more sophisticated and quite as old. Are there no laughing, prankish youngsters here like those we had at home? No puppies that romp all over your best clothes and chew your shoes? No kittens that run fearlessly up the armchair and sharpen their claws on your back?

"If youth is up to any deviltry here, it appears to be at it sedately. Tell us sometime what has happened to the spirit of youth."

Repressing a villainous desire to remark, "You tell 'em, beauty parlor, you know all the latest wrinkless," we will begin by stating that we disagree with our correspondent as much as a Welsh rarebit would with a hypochondriac.

About cats we can't speak with much authority. The only cat we know well is a sedate pussy who gives the impression that she presides at Mothers' meetings and reads papers on "How to Direct the Play Instinct of Kittens Along Rational Lines."

The other cats of our acquaintance seldom come nearer to us than the range of an air-gun fired from a sleeping-porch and therefore we are not qualified to comment on their reactions when confronted with a ball of catnip or a roll of twine.

ALMOST TOO BRIEF

We admit, also, that for girls growing up in China, childhood is pathetically brief. Can you imagine a sixteen-year-older in Shanghai going to an afternoon party with her hair in a braid and eating ice-cream in a white muslin dress after a game of 'Run, sheep, run' on the front lawn? You are considerably more likely to find her with bobbed hair and bobbed dress raising sophisticated shoulders to the tune of "Mon Homme" as the clock veers round toward two and the atmosphere becomes hazy with smoke. She is playing in her own way, but her toys are Tuxedoed young persons who recently came out on a five-year contract and her favorite game is setting them up like tin soldiers just for the fun of knocking them down again.

At eighteen she is not looking forward tremulously to her first ball; she is usually trying to fit nine dance invitations into six days, and is languidly telling the world that she is fed up with the younger ones and that men aren't really interesting under thirty-five, anyway.

The disproportion between men and women makes China a forcinghouse for the feminine younger set, the social law of supply and demand causing debutantes to be raised under glass and put on the market several seasons earlier than they would otherwise appear.

There is something pathetic about these blase products of the nursery who haunt Shanghai cafes and create impressions of sophistication that they would give a gold-tired riksha to recall a few years later.

CHANGES IN CHINA

But these facts do not prevent us from maintaining that China is pre-eminently the Land of Debutantes. How about the girl who had just reached the stage of being invited to act as chaperon for the younger set, and to serve on welfare committees for factory girls; who finds that her engagements are veering more and more to afternoon affairs; and who is beginning to wonder if Professor Jones over at the university would be such a terrible catch after all, even if his hair is getting a little thin?

Transplant this girl to China, give the law of suply and demand an open road, and in a few months she will have a date-book that would make her younger sister at home look like the Little Orphan Annie.

The clock has been set back for her at least ten years, and she promptly develops a spirit of self-confidence and certainty that only a duplicate of Mary Pickford would have a right to wear at home.

And, dear lady correspondent, in your visits to Shanghai's dancing-places you surely must have noticed the number of gray and bald heads on the floor—that is, not exactly on the floor, but from five to six feet above it?

DELEGATES LEAVE FOR WASHINGTON CONFERENCE

Hundreds Gather At Jetty To Bid Farewell To The Mission

YEN SAILS LATER

Chief Of Delegation Will Take C.P.O.S. Liner From Yokohama

Seventy-one delegates to represent China at the Disarmament Conference sailed for San Francisco early this morning on the Admiral Line steamer Hawkeye State, several hundred gathering at the Customs Jetty yesterday afternoon to bid them farewell.

The Arsenal Band, sent by the Defense Commissioner, Ho Feng-ling, played as the tender swung out into the stream after representatives of many national and local organisations had paid their respects at an informal reception held at the jetty. Representatives attended from the Chinese General Chamber of Commerce, Pacific Conference Association, Kiangsu Education Association, Federation of Street Unions, Shanghai Bankers Association and others, while Hsu Yuan, Commissioner of Foreign Affairs, and reperesentatives of other officials and bureaus were present.

Dr. W. W. Yen, chief of the Chinese delegation to the Washington Conference, did not go with the group yesterday and will probably sail on the Empress of Russia from Yokohama. No Southern delegates left on the Hawkeye State.

NO POSTERS AT JETTY

Posters appeared in several parts of the Settlement yesterday urging the delegation to refuse to sanction direct negotiation with Japan on the Shantung Issue while others proclaimed "We do not recognise the delegates of the country-selling Government."

None of the posters was in evidence at the jetty yesterday.

Receptions are planned for the Chinese representatives in Yokohama and Honolulu while Chinese in San Francisco plan a royal welcome when the Hawkeye State arrives in port. The group leaving yesterday will remain but a few days in San Francisco and will then proceed direct to Washington where Dr. Philip Tyau, who left here two weeks ago, is making preliminary arrangements for headquarters.

Following the conference the Chinese delegation will break up into small parties and will travel to various parts of the United States making investigations particularly along educational and industrial lines.

Tokio, Oct. 3.—The Premier, Mr. Hara, addressing a local Seiyukai Convention at Nagano City, said that Government was determined to do its best to realise limitation of armament and to remove all foreign misunderstandings of Japan's foreign policy and her position in the Orient. He declared that, while the Conference was very important for Japan, it was absurd for people to think that Japan was therefore confronted by a national crisis.

The convention later passed a resolution to support the Government in its policy of co-operating Peking, Sept. 30.—Admiral Joseph Strauss, Commander-in-Chief of the United States Asiatic Fleet has given up his voyage to Hongkong and the Dutch East Indies and is now on his way up to Hankow to investigate conditions there insofar as they affect the United States Yangtze Patrol and American commerce along the River.

American firms in the Yangtze towns above Hankow and American steamers plying the Yangtze from Hankow to Chungking have suffered considerable losses owing to the indiscriminate firing by both Northern and Southern troops on river steamers. Some of the firms in question have described existing conditions as unbearable. It is in attempt to solve this difficulty that the American Admiral is proceeding to Hankow.

CHANG CALLS MEETING

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, Oct. 1. — Generals Chang Tso-lin and Tsao Kun have determined to call a conference of all the military leaders of the North at Tientsin some time next month, according to reports repeatedly appearing in the vernacular press. Conditions throughout the country, especially in Shensi and along the Yangtsze are said to be causing the Super-Tuchuns anxiety. A rapprochment with Canton has also been occupying the attention of Chang Tso-lin.

At a recent conference at Shanghai the delegates of Sun Yat-sen and Chang Tso-lin sat side by side at the table, and their relations throughout the duration of the conference are reported as most cordial.

In well informed Chinese circles the unanimous belief exists that any conference called at Tientsin by Chang Tso-lin will have at its chief object the political and military isolation of General Wu Pei-fu. Wu is a fighter and a successful fighter. Chang Tso-lin, on the other hand, is a chess-board soldier; and his policy is now, as it always was, to outwit his opponents at the conference table and by the formation of strong combinations rather than on the field of battle.

Reward Offered For Arrest Of Men In Big Opium Case

Announcement is made in the Chinese press of a reward of $1,000 for information leading to the arrest of the person or persons who used the Watson's Mineral Water Company's truck in the conveyance of smuggled opium, $384,000 worth of which was seized by the police last Friday. The offer is announced in the Sin Wan Pao by Messrs. Fessenden and Holcomb on behalf of the company.

The case of the five men arrested thus far is to come up in the Mixed Court on Friday.

OLDEST YOUNG FOLKS HERE

Married couples—our typewriter spelled 'marred couples', but we corrected it—who had been in a rut for twenty years come to Shanghai and suddenly burst out of their cocoons like twin butterflies. Rather elderly butterflies, of course, with the gold dust spread rather thin on their wings, but nevertheless decided improvements on the original cocoons.

PONCE AT HOME

No one can attend a Saturday night session at a local cafe without seeing multitudes of indications that Bubbling Well must be the fountain of eternal youth in disguise.

And then there is that army of adventurers—of men and women who came to the East in a spirit of daring and who prolong their youth by tilting with uncertainty. Coming to the East in itself, either as a tourist or in business, means a youthful urge of adventure and a consequent postponing of the jaded years when each day dawns glumly on a too well-ordered world.

And is there any city on earth that gives more attention to play, indoors and out? Any city where more people of expanding age rush to meet the tennis ball by day and the crashing melody by night?

In our opinion, the only old people in Shanghai are those under twenty.

substitute also was sick. But the committee was resourceful and produced a man from London who made a speech about South Africa.

LURE OF DISTANCE

At home he said it was a practice to talk about China, but he felt it safer in China with a lot of old China hands present to talk about some other country. He selected the one as far away as possible and that is where I got my first impetus to leave Shanghai and try to make my living elsewhere.

South Africa has its good points. There seems to be plenty of room, for the speaker said that the country was as big as Europe, Russia excepted, and that there was only one inhabitant for every two square miles. In this respect China and South Africa differ slightly. And it's a fine place for a white man. Since his arrival he has succeeded in gobbling up six sevenths of the land although he numbers only one seventh of the population.

The natives are gradually being squeezed back into reserves and are finding it increasingly difficult to secure pasture land. The white men need the coal for their factories and the ladies need the diamonds to enhance their good looks, so maskee the black man who has no proper sense of appreciation of the natural resources.

NO BLACKS ON TRAMS

The blacks do not seem to like this procedure and there is a great deal of feeling between whites and blacks. A new element is being introduced by the influx of many laborers from India. In Johannesburg the trams carry millions of passengers annually but none of them are blacks. On the trains no black man however big his wad may be is allowed to ride first or second class.

On top of all this is the feeling between the Dutch and the British. If anybody down there should want to start something, all he would have to do would be to ask the crowd to stand and sing their national anthem.

After the speaker finished his interesting address, the chairman threw the meeting open for discussion. The speaker had played a safe hand for most of the people present had never been that far away from home.

One man in the audience tried to get a rise out of the speaker by asking what he thought about the man from India who went to Africa and developed a big strike among the Indians, and what [illegible] his activities now that he returned to India. It was stepping on a man's [illegible] in. The speaker shut up like a clam and refused to express any sentiments relating to the present nationalistic spirit in India.

A resolution was brought up by the Executive Committee relating to an endorsement of the Washington Conference. The original proposers sent this down from Kuling where the resolution was written asking the Shanghai Missionary Society to add its endorsement.

The Chairman suggested that it might be better for those present to pray about it and help in this way rather than sign their names to a document which would in all likelihood be ignored anyway. But a lady got up and suggested that they do both. Her motion was carried after some discussion.

"How did you like the meeting?" my friend asked me on the way out.

"That was some meeting," I replied, "eats, South Africa and Washington. Put me next when they have another."

Trust Company Sues Stockholders As Rumor Circulators

Hearings in a criminal action brought by the Shanghai Mercantile Trust Company, a concern capitalised for five million dollars, against three Chinese named Tseu Zu-yung, Yau Tsoong-nan and Dzung Kyung-liang were begun yesterday in the Mixed Court before Assessors Hutchinson and Ferrajolo and Magistrate Loh.

The defendants are charged with circulating rumors and letters and publishing advertisements discrediting the company in the eyes of its stockholders and others. Mr. F. J. Schuhl and Mr. G. D. Musso appeared to prosecute and Mr. J. B. Davies and Mr. K. E. Newman appeared for the defendants.

The complainants allege that defendants attempted to get control of the company and failing in this, decided to break it up. Testimony was given principally by one of the auditors for the company, who is also a stockholder, and the case was adjourned until tomorrow.

The defendant, with two others, drove to the house after having been drinking for several hours in a bar in Jessfield. He snatched a gold ring and a pair of earrings from the woman. In the witness box he declared the affair to have been in the nature of a joke and expressed the hope that his past bad record would not be held against him. The Magistrate said he failed to see the joke.

CHINA OBJECTS TO YAP DECISION

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, Oct. 1.—The Chinese Foreign Office yesterday evening despatched an identic note to the American and Japanese Legations with regard to recent press reports of the Yap Agreement reached between the United States and Japan. The Foreign Office requests that the two Legations forward the contents of the note to their respective governments.

China's note states that, if the reports of the Yap Agreement as published in the press are correct the agreement constitutes a violation of China's sovereignty and of the principle of national equality Continuing, the Chinese Foreign Office maintains that no Japanese American agreement regarding Yap can authorise Japan to lay the cable between Shanghai and Yap unless China is an assenting party to the agreement.

Germany's rights in the Shanghai-Yap cable, says the note, lapsed when China declared war on Germany in August, 1918. These rights, according to the Foreign Office, have been succeeded to by no other Power, and therefore the United States and Japan cannot attempt to dispose of them without violating the sovereignty of China.

It is understood in Chinese diplomatic circles that China will bring up the matter of the Shanghai-Yap cable at the Pacific Conference.

Defendant In Traffic Case Accuses Police Of Persecuting Him

Charge Against Mr. C. P. Rakusen Is Dismissed In British Court

Making his sixth appearance in connection with charges of traffic regulations violations, Mr. C. P. Rakusen in the British Police Court yesterday alleged that he is the victim of police persecution. The charge against the defendant was that he has broken the regulations by using an exhaust syren on his motor car.

Testimony was given by members of the police force and by Dr. Fearn, secretary of the Shanghai General Hospital, the latter stating that the sounding of the syren and cutting out of the mumer on the car had been noted by him on several occasions and constituted an annoyance to the patients at the hospital. He had written Mr. Rakusen with regard to the matter.

The defendant submitted that the syren was a permanent feature of the car and that it was used only when the electric horn was not in working order. He declared that he was convinced the police were trying to "get him." Magistrate G. W. King deprecated his attitude in this connection, pointed out that Dr. Fearn could not possibly be accused of prejudice and in dismissing the charge expressed the hope that the defendant would live up to the regulations and that the police would not be discouraged by their non-success in the case.

The ever-increasing army of men and women who have experience of this excellent medicine generally use some such phrase as "priceless" or "Worth a guinea a box" when speaking of Beecham's Pills. (Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Oct. 1.—The Cabinet at its meeting this morning discussed the question of restoring the surtaxes in Shantung in accordance with the procedure adopted along the Puyang River, in order to provide immediate funds for the reconstruction of dykes recently destroyed by flood at Kungchiapu.

Finally the question was decided in the affirmative and it was resolved to request the President to issue a mandate to that effect, pending ratification by the Shantung Provincial Assembly when it meets.

The meeting also accepted the resignation of Mr. Kuan Hai-cheng, from the post of Commissioner for Foreign Intercourse at Mukden, and recommended the appointment of Mr. Tung Chow-yuan as his successor.

Peking, Oct. 1.—According to Chinese unofficial reports the retirement of Mr. Pan Fu from the post of Acting Minister of Finance is practically certain, and Mr. Chang Hu, former colleague of Mr. Tsao Yu-lin, is endeavoring to secure nomination for post of Minister.

These reports say, however, that the Chihli faction is in favor of the appointment of Mr. Neu Chuan-shan, the present Vice-Minister as Minister of Finance and Mr. Li Shou-hsun as Vice-Minister. Mr. Li is now Chihli Commissioner of Finance. It is further stated that Mr. Wang Nai-ping has gone to Paotingfu to talk matters over with General Tsao Kun.

CHITA AND JAPAN DEADLOCK AS TO EVACUATION DATE

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Oct. 1.—Mr. Korostovetz, former Russian Minister at Peking, is on a visit to the Capital and is staying at the Grand Hotel des Wagons-Lits.

A fresh hitch has occurred in the negotiations at Dairen between representatives of Japan and the Russian Far Eastern Republic, owing to the insistence of the Chita Delegate upon Japan's agreement to withdraw her troops from Siberia as a preliminary to the settlement of economic and industrial questions. The Chita Delegation is putting this stipulation forward in the guise of a matter of "face" for himself and it, therefore, bears the character of a main consideration on the part of the Chita Government, without which all other arrangements would be viewed as futile.

Mr. Matsushima could not see his way clear to accept this condition as a preliminary measure. Consequently both Delegations have made fresh representations to their Governments and are now awaiting further instructions.

(Dalta News Agency)

Chita, Sept. 30.—According to authoritative sources, some of the Japanese counter-proposals at the Dairen Conference are acceptable to the Government of the Far Eastern Republic; while other clauses, inspired by the Japanese militarists, affect the Far Eastern Republic in its military situation.

The Russian delegation is insisting upon the introduction into the agreement of a clause providing for the evacuation of Japanese forces from Russian territory.

LAWNBOWLS CLUB CLOSES 1921 SEASON WITH A GOOD PERCENTAGE OF VICTORIES

Strong Individuals Brought Interclub Average Up To High Mark

BY "THE SHOT"

The advent of October sees the various clubs getting busy bringing their competitions to a close. The S.L.B. club closed their official season on Saturday last when all who attended made a rink game, four prizes being presented by a member for the rink winning by the largest margin.

The club can look back on the outgoing season with satisfaction and night after night when weather permitted, their greens were generally full up. Although several stalwarts were away on home leave the club have done remarkably well in their interclub games having a good winning percentage to their credit.

It has been quite a pleasure to all the trundling fraternity to see the genial Vice President back with the club again and both he and their Captain F. L. Marshal have put in a lot of hard work during the season and we congratulate them on the result.

DUNLOP BEST EVER

In the open championships, the club are in the happy position of sheltering two of the winners. Mainly owing to a wonderfully consistant performance by "Geordie" Dunlop, both the pairs and singles meandered along to the club. This is the second year in succession that "Geordie" has won the open singles and this and his performances throughout the season stamp him as the "best ever" in our little town. I'm sure all bowlers will agree with us in this and we wish you all the luck in your next year's attempt Geordie—may you do the hat trick.

It was a matter of regret to us that the club was not able to be represented in the Interport games. Look at it how you may it seems certain that a player like Harborne, Dunlop or Albert Taylor would have turned the scales in our favor.

It is quite a pleasure to know that the number 2 green is coming on in fine shape and I've no doubt next season will see it fit for anything in the way of bowling.

Mr. Harry Manwaring has done a lot in the way of secretarial work to make the season a success and his unfailing courtesy to members of other clubs on all occasions have been much appreciated. Despite all the honor and glory which has come the club's way this season I doubt if it outweighs their great loss, sustained by the death of dear old Pa Goines. One of the select coterie who founded the club, he had its welfare always at heart, and his genial personality was always a factor in both his club and the Shanghai bowling world.

HERE ARE THE CHAMPS

The results of the club competitions are:

Singles championship (Liddell cup) G. Dunlop 1st, runner up Albert Taylor.

A No-Hit, No-Run Game Hurled By Ex-Big Leaguer

New Haven (Conn.), August 3.—Frank Woodward, former National League pitcher, twirled a no-hit, no-run game for New Haven of the Eastern League, defeating Waterbury, 10 to 0, today. Only 31 batsmen faced him, five reaching first base and none getting to second. He struck out six and walked four.

TIENTSIN POLO TEAM BESTED BY PEKING HITTING

Superior Mounting And Speed Of Visitors Overcome By Teamwork

Peking, October 1.—Peking's defenders of the Inter-port Polo Cup this afternoon beat the Tientsin invaders by a score of five goals to nothing. With the exception of the first chukker, in which playing honors were about evenly divided, the Peking team outclassed the four from Tientsin in every department of the game.

Peking went off with a rush, but were soon checked by the strong play of Paterson at back. Tientsin then attacked, with Davis and Benbowe Rowe riding fast and hitting hard, and the challengers looked dangerous for a moment, as Allen, Peking's back was well covered, Peking saved at the last moment, however, and from this time on the ball travelled up and down the field, with neither side being able to score. Peking was playing better as a team than Tientsin, but the Tientsin men were better mounted and Benbowe Rowe covered Allen well throughout the chukker.

Peking began to assert itself in the second chukker, and Captain Munton scored a pretty goal from in front of the goal-mouth after three minutes of play. Tientsin was still better mounted than the defending team, but they missed a lot of shots and were more and more outclassed in team play. Although unable to score again in this chukker, they pressed Tientsin hard all the time, and the advantage of the chukker was theirs.

In the third chukker Peking showed its real superiority, and a long shot by Colonel Smallwood following some pretty combination work down the field resulted in goal number two for Peking. Two goals from scrimmage in front of the goal-mouth both of them by Smallwood, increased Peking's lead to four in this chukker, which was all Peking's. Tientsin's superiority in ponies was not so evident in this chukker; and Allen at last succeeded in shaking off Benbowe Rowe and worked beautifully combination with the rest of his team, especially with Smallwood.

The last chukker again showed Peking to be the better side. They had almost all of the play, and the ball was constantly in the neighborhood of Tientsin's goal. In the fourth minute Allen made the prettiest goal of the day with a long forehand shot that went sizzling through the

POLICE TO ENTER ONLY ONE TEAM FOR FOOTBALL

Club's Cricketers Complete Second Undefeated Season

The Police Recreation Club will enter a team in the first league only when the football season opens, according to decision at the annual meeting held Monday evening. J. C. Clissold was named to act as captain and Jimmy Adams as vice-captain of the Club's football section.

The review of the past season's activities was one of moderate successes, with the possible exception of the work on the cricket field. Weather interfered with the playing off of a number of features in this as well as other branches of sport but of five matches played the police lost none, thereby completing their second successive season without a defeat.

The football committee named is composed of Messrs. Kay, MacDonald and W. Hotchkiss and the hockey committee numbers Messrs. H. Hotchkiss, Fairbairn and Webb.

The matter of the proposed new Police Rifle Club was brought up and the meeting was adjourned to a date to be fixed later in order that the committee may meet to discuss the Recreation Club's position with regard to the new organisation.

Tientsin Civvies Beat U. S. Marines

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, October 1.—The Tientsin Civilians beat the Peking Marines at baseball this afternoon by a score of 6-2. The "Civvies" had the edge on the Marines from the start and at the end fairly romped home with the game. Scott pitched well for the "Civvies" and Bailey for the Marines twirled a pretty good article of ball. But Scott was the steadier of the two in the pinches and, in addition, had better support behind him.

The Key To Golf Success; How To Develop Game

BY HARRY VARDON

If only the average golfer could realise the importance of practising instead of engaging in matches or medal rounds at every opportunity! It is rather a remarkable fact that the better a man plays golf, the stronger as a rule is his desire to practise in solitude and think out the shots that will bring improvement, and the worse he plays it, the less he goes out to pursue the best possible means of remedying his weaknesses.

There is nothing like devoting to solo practice many an hour which might be given to a match. You learn more in that hour than you would discover in a dozen contests, when your mind is wholly concentrated on beating your opponent and you are apt to try this, that and the other stance or grip in the hope of setting right some weakness to which you cannot give your whole attention even for a quarter of an hour, but must of necessity fly to expedients ere it is too late to retrieve the other man's lead.

Golf is about the only outdoor game in which you can sally forth alone to study it, play it, and master it. In that regard, it is like billiards, and I suppose that the billiards champions devote countless hours to practice. So do many people who have tables of their own. And yet golfers—especially long-handicap golfers—when they visit their courses for the evening or week-end, hardly ever think of taking out three clubs and half-a-dozen balls, and concentrating for twenty-minutes on each club so as to reflect upon the results that come of various ways of hitting the ball.

PRACTISE NECESSARY

But this disinclination to practise is not confined to long handicap players. It is to be observed among many young professionals who sacrifice their chance of rising to great places in the game because they do not devote sufficient time to practice. There are some excellent golfers among the younger generation—Arthur Havers is a particularly notable example—but there are not nearly so many as there ought to be, considering the large number of men who in recent times have adopted golf as a means of livelihood.

I really cannot see anything in the nature of a definite promise that the next line of open champions is going to be so strong numerically in first-class players as have been generations of the immediate past and the actual present. As a veteran, I may be prejudiced. But apart from one or two young players, where can you point to obviously budding geniuses? They are desperately difficult to find, whereas they ought to be far more plentiful than at any time in the past.

The reason is, I think, that many of the young professionals who have an inborn gift for the game, do not practise sufficiently. They say that they are always teaching, and that when they are not doing that, they either have to go out and play a round with a member or feel that they must do it by way of a relief from in-

HONGKONG HOPES TO MEET LOCAL FOOTBALL TEAM

Also Are Urging Australian Cricket Eleven To Visit Them

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Hongkong, October 4.—At the annual meeting of the Hongkong Cricket Club yesterday evening, the President announced that efforts were being made with a view to inducing the Australian eleven visiting America to pay a visit to Hongkong in the Autumn of 1922. It was also hoped, he said, to have another Triangular Interport festival in 1922.

At a meeting of the Hongkong Football Association which was also held yesterday evening, the Secretary stated that Shanghai was willing to send a team to Hongkong, and that an invitation was being sent to Singapore for a team to visit Hongkong, so that a triangular series of games could be played, similar to the cricket series.

challengers' goal at a hard angle. This ended the scoring, with Peking winning, 5 to 0.

Better team-work, harder and more accurate hitting and a more evenly balanced side won the game for Peking. Every man on the Peking team was good, and Smallwood and Allen were at times brilliant. For Tientsin Paterson played well at back. He hit hard and rode hard and did his best to keep the score down. Benbowe Rowe played well in the first two chukkers, but seemed to tire in the last half of the game. Roy Davis had fast mounts, the fastest on the field, but the speed of his ponies seemed to make him miss a lot of shots. Whitamore also played hard, but not Quite up to the standard of the other players.

The teams played as follows:

Peking.—Captain Munton, 1; Lt. Col. Smallwood, 2; Mr. Newbigging, 3; Mr. Allen, back.

Tientsin.—Mr. Benbowe Rowe, 1; Mr. Roy Davis, 2; Mr. Whitamore, 3; Mr. Paterson, back.

Referees: Messrs. Watson and S. F. Mayers.

Goals: For Peking—Munton, Allen, Smallwood, 3.

At The Olympic

Madame K. M. Kulichevskaia, teacher of Anna Palova, will present her company of fifteen artists at the Olympic Theater tomorrow night in a program of music and dancing.

Pavlova's teacher received her early training at the Imperial Ballet School in Petrograd. After completing her studies there she danced at the Imperial Theater for many years, with great success and made many appearances before the Russian Imperial family.

The next step in Mrs. Kulichevskaia's career was her appointment as head instructor at the Imperial Ballet School in Petrograd which post she filled for 15 years. During this time Mrs. Kulichevskaia was also busy as a "Ballet Meister" and under her supervision many performances were given at the Zarskoselsky Theater in the presence of the Imperial Family who showered her with costly gifts.

ABBOTT DENIES LOAN IS SIGNED

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, Sept. 29.—Mr. John J. Abbott, Vice-President of the Continental and Commercial Bank of Chicago declared today that while his bank was negotiating with the Chinese Government for a loan to cover the loan that was made to the Government in October last, and that falls due on November 1, nothing had been signed as yet.

This denial was made because of the persistent reports that have been appearing in the Chinese Press to the effect that a new loan had already been signed. Today the Shun [illegible]n Shih Pao, the Japanese [illegible]er in Peking, that a few da[illegible]go printed the first story of the signing of such a loan, again declares that the loan has been signed, and this time goes into details of the terms of the loan. Mr. Abbott has denied both of these reports.

The Key To Golf Success; How To Develop Game

structing their charges. It is possible to understand their difficulties, but most of us in earlier days had retarding circumstances of some sort.

HOW I BUILT UP GAME

For instance it was when I was professional at Bury—soon after turning 21—that I learnt such skill as I came ultimately to possess. And the chances of practice there were not numerous. It was part of my contract that I must work on the course until 4 p.m. each day, and not play a round until after that hour; I was more of a greenkeeper than a professional golfer. But there were often intervals of ten minutes—seldom longer—in my work on the course, and I utilised every one of them.

In fact, it was very largely during those intervals that I built up my golf, for, up to the time that I left Jersey, I had thought very little about the scientific side of the game and had pursued it in a rather happy-go-lucky fashion. It was in many an odd ten minutes at Bury that I worked out the overlapping grip—which took me a year to master—and learnt to play what has become known as "the push" shot with an iron club, which makes the ball fly low and stop reasonably near to where it pitches because of the application of plenty of backspin.

What this devotion to practice would be worth to the medium or long-handicap player is almost incalculable, because in his case, the scope for improvement is so extensive. If only he would, twice a week, give fifteen minutes to practising tee shots with a brassie (the fact that it has a stiffer shape and a slightly lofted face tends to make it easier to use than a driver, and therefore to give him confidence before he takes a drive of the same length and lie in a match) fifteen minutes to the mid-iron, fifteen minutes to the mashie, and fifteen minutes to the putter. He could knock more strokes off his handicap than he hopes to do, except, perhaps, in his dreams.

I learnt to judge distance with the mashie by repeatedly playing half a dozen shots in succession over a bush, starting at 30 yards from the bush and going back ten yards for each shot. That is an example of the kind of practice that pays.

American Woman's Club Adopts 'Service' As Motto For Work Of Coming Year

Members Hear Address By President Mrs. F. J. Raven, And Department Chairmen Outline Programs

Service to the Shanghai community will be the motto of the American Woman's Club this year according to Mrs. F. J. Raven, president of the club, in her address of welcome delivered at the initial meeting of the club year held yesterday afternoon at the Carlton Cafe.

The high ideals toward which the club will strive and the splendid and helpful programs outlined by the chairmen of the various departments of the club indicate that the organisation will make great strides this year and that the splendid records of past years will be excelled.

"Shanghai women have a great opportunity to hold out the helping hand of service," said Mrs. Raven. "Self improvement pure and simple is out of date. The motto of the twentieth century is Service. We cannot receive what we do not give and American women here in Shanghai can give and receive much."

Mrs. H. A. Wilbur, chairman of the Literary Department of the club, outlined a program of interest for the year which will deal with "Literature and Art of the Early Chinese." The first meeting of this department will be held October 14 at the Royal Asiatic Hall at 4:30 p.m. when Mrs. Elizabeth Dadisman will give a paper on "When and Where of the Early Chinese," Mrs. P. H. Dunbar on "The Three Great Legendary Heroes" and a third speaker, "The Origin of Chinese Writing."

Mrs. J. W. Nichols, chairman of the Social Service Department, stated that the work of this department will be divided into three sections, the Navy "Y," finance and community service.

As a foreword of the work Mrs. Nichols asked that members contribute magazines and books—especially sets of Dickens—to the department for distribution on the Huron.

Mrs. V. G. Lyman, chairman of the social department, stated that her committee was not complete and that while plans for many delightful club affairs were being made, that would be announced at a later meeting.

The music department under the direction of Mrs. M. P. Walker is planning big things and the co-operation of all members with musical talent hoped for in order to make the programs of interest.

Mrs. Fred Van Buskirk, chairman of the Mothers' Department, announced that a meeting of this department would be held October 19 at 10 o'clock. Among the subjects to be discussed are diets, servant problems, precautions to be taken in preparation of foods, care of children and other discussions of subjects of interest to the women in their homes.

Among the guests introduced to the club were Miss Cratty, National General Secretary of the Y.W.C.A., Miss Dow, also connected with the Association, Mrs. George Fitch and Mrs. Y. J. Allen.

The See Kee Rubber Estates (1918), Ltd.

Thirty thousand two hundred shares were represented at the third annual meeting of the See Kee Rubber Estates (1918) Limited, held yesterday afternoon at the offices of the managers, Messrs. R. N. Truman and Co. Mr. C. H. Rutherford presided over the directorate, Messrs. E. Samson, R. N. Swann and R. N. Truman Resolutions were passed providing for the adoption of the report and accounts as presented, for the appointment of Mr. R. N. Truman and the re-election of Mr. E. Samson as directors and the re-election of Messrs. Lowe, Bingham and Matthews as auditors.

The chairman's speech follows:

"Gentlemen.—The planted area of the estates is given as 540 acres of which 519 are producing, and 21 non-producing, the latter will be brought into tapping this year, so that the whole planted area will then be in the tapping round. Of the 540 acres producing, 176 acres were brought into the tapping round during the year under review. The planted area has not been surveyed by a qualified surveyer for over 10 years, so that the correctness of the above figures is subject to a re-survey which will be undertaken when funds permit.

"The estate is being maintained on the minimum expenditure, and I am glad to say we appear to have a Manager, who is alive to the necessity for the strictest economy. You will notice that weeding costs have been reduced considerably as compared with the previous year, but the reduction is due largely to the drastic retrenchment being exercised. Our Singapore Agents state, 'the estate could not be called clean at the end of the year as it could at the beginning when fortnightly rounds were being done. No part, however, is yet out of hand.' Disease has given no cause for anxiety, and the health of the labor force improved during the latter part of the year. The output amounted to 161,779 lbs. of dry rubber. the Estimate for this financial year is 175,000 lbs.

"The cost of production as compared with last year was as follows: Last year 1d. 3.86. This year 1d. 1.93, or, expressed in Singapore dollar cents, 56.66 last year, 49.74 this year. It is confidently hoped the costs will be considerably lower this year.

"The sale of 165,903 lbs. of rubber in Singapore realised a net price of 9.25 pence or S.$0.33.05, compared with 1 9.95 or S.$0.78.39 last year. The average quality of the rubber manufactured has not been up to Singapore standard, but our new manager is making every effort to remedy the defects. One of the reasons for the inferior quality is, that the available water is not very satisfactory, and the smoke house requires some alternations.

"One new coolie line was erected in September, and the only expenditure on buildings anticipated this year is for repairs to roofs etc. With reference to the accounts the Profit and Loss account shows a loss for the year of Tls. 25,869.53, from which must be deducted the balance from last year Tls. 4,773.33 leaving a net loss of Tls. 21,556.20 which it is proposed to carry forward to next year's account. The low price of rubber accounts for this unsatisfactory result.

"For book purposes exchange from Straits Dollars to Shanghai Taels has been taken as follows.

	Last year	This year
Average rate for the year	35	57
The rate at end of year	44½	67½

"Messrs. Martin and Company, having resigned their position as Secretaries, Messrs. R. N. Truman and Campany, were appointed Secretaries and Managers as from July 1 this year. The estate is now under the Management of Mr. W. A. Smith, who was appointed in February last, and his administration is reported on favorably. The cost of production has been reduced under Mr Smith's administration from 21.11 cents in February last to 22.01 cents in July, but owing to the necessity for expenditure on weeding it is not expected that the cost will be maintained at this exceedingly low rate, although it is confidently hoped that, while keeping the estate in good order, the figure will be appreciably below 30 cents.

"As to the future it is impossible to predict, but as the rubber producers corporation is not now likely to come into being owing to lack of the necessary support, it looks as if it will be a case of the survival of the fittest. As you are aware, the directors after consultation with some of the largest shareholders, decided in June to offer to shareholders 25,000 taels 15 percent debentures at par, in the proportion of one tael debenture for every 3 ordinary shares held, the offer met with a fair amount of support, and with the selling price of rubber at 30 cents and with the reduced expenditure estimated by the new manager, we are in a position to carry on at least to the end of the current financial year."

The Shanghai Pahang Rubber Estate, Ltd.

At the eighth annual general meeting of the Shanghai Pahang Rubber Estate, Ltd., held yesterday afternoon at the offices of the secretaries and general managers, Messrs. A. R. Burkill and Sons, the report and accounts for the year were adopted, Mr. E. A. Prince was re-elected a director, and Messrs. Lowe, Bingham and Matthews were re-elected auditors. Shares totaling 24,750 were represented. Mr. N. G. Maitland presided as chairman of the board of directors, with Messrs. E. A. Prince, M. Speelman and C. J. L. Stewart in attendance.

The chairman, in his speech said:

"Gentlemen: The planted area remains the same at 754 acres except for two acres which were felled and planted with fruit trees. Regarding the application for the 2,000 acres at Semantan which was made a considerable time ago, we have received advice that the British Resident at Semantan has agreed to allow the company's application to stand over until improved conditions are in evidence.

"The crop estimate was not realised on account of the scheme of restriction which was supported by our Company and brought into effect in September last year. In spite of the decreased yield, the "all-in" cost of production showed a decrease over that of the previous year of 2.2 pence per lb. and 2.37 pence per lb. below the estimate. Bark renewal is stated to be good and our visiting agent reports favorably on the quality of the tapping.

"The estate was kept in a clean weeded condition throughout, the mature area being weeded monthly and the immature area bimonthly. The property is now in excellent condition. The cost of $1.61 per acre per month, although on the high side, was considerably below last year's figure. Diseases have given the minimum of trouble and expenditure under this heading amounted to only $20 per mensem.

"The position as regards labor is that the present force is adequate for estate requirements and the health of the force has been quite satisfactory. We have now ample accommodation for our labor as the six permanent coolie lines are capable of accommodating a total of 360 coolies.

"In view of the deplorable state of the market now existing, it was found necessary to dispense with the services of the assistant. In spite of being single handed, Mr. Birkemose managed the estate efficiently and well and the visiting agent's reports indicate a satisfactory state of affairs.

"The loss on the year's working amounted to Tls. 12,819.20 which deducted from the amount of Tls. 17,580.72 brought forward from last year leaves a balance of Tls. 4,741.52 standing to the credit of profit and loss account. It is hardly necessary for me to comment on the position revealed by the accounts on the year's working. We have practically come to the end of the working capital at our disposal. The whole position has been put before the manager and instructions have been given to him to effect further economies and make an endeavor to place the estate on a self supporting basis and I feel sure that he will realise the situation and do his best in this direction. With a continued improvement in the market price of rubber, we hope to be able to carry on, but failing this, it may be necessary to ask the Shareholders to subscribe funds to continue the working of the estate."

SHANTUNG REPLY NOW NEARLY IN SHAPE TO ISSUE

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, Sept. 30.—China's reply to the Japanese Shantung Note of September 7 has been drafted, according to reliable information, but its transmission to the Japanese Minister has been held up pending the Government's decision as to its final policy in dealing with the Shantung Question.

The people and the press are opposing direct negotiations more strongly from day to day, and the Government's problem is to find a way of dealing with the issue which satisfy both the requirements of good policy and the demands of the people.

In this connection it is stated that the Chinese note, while declining to negotiate on Japan's terms as set forth in her note of September 7, will contain something in the nature of a counter-proposal which if accepted, might serve as the basis for subsequent negotiations.

The outstanding feature of these counter-proposals is said on the same authority to be the suggestion that the Shantung Railway together with all the mines along it be placed under the control of the Consortium.

Another proposal made in the note is, it is stated, that Tsingtao be opened as an international settlement under full Chinese control, exactly as in the case of the former enemy concessions in Tientsin and Hankow.

LITS'UN MISSION AGAIN IS OPENED

(China Press Correspondence)

Tsingtao, Sept. 28.—Rev. Karl J. Voskamp of the Lutheran church here has rebuilt and opened a church at Lits'un, some 30 li north. This was destroyed during the siege, and till now has remained in a ruined condition. A good many friends went out from here on this occasion. Rev. Mr. Voskamp is a well known missionary here, having been in China for 37 years.

Mr. Ralph Wells of the Presbyterian Mission, Weihsien, passed through here returning from a meeting of some committee in Shanghai.

Rev. Wm. H. Sears of the Southern Baptist Mission, Pingtu, has just returned to his station after an extended stay at Iltis Huk. A nice summer home has been completed, after many delays. Not all has been smooth sailing for builders in Tsingtao this year. Rains, various hindrances, official and unofficial, have contributed to the growth of patience. Rev. S. E. Stephens of the American Baptist Mission has completed the erection of a home.

SPEAKIN' 'bout American style! If you knew of an American "home," a small house, clean, beautifully furnished, cleaner than anything you could hope for in China, where the food was mostly American products, prepared in American fashion (clean, wholesome, delicious) in a kitchen that invites your inspection at all times, and served in American style, with more food (than plates passed 'round) and such chow that would make you think of the best you ever tasted from Maine to California and which unheard of in the Far East could be eaten with safety; you sure would like to live in such a place! I have a large room, private bath (geyser), for two gentlemen or couple and a small suite of sittingroom, bedroom, dressingroom, private bath for three gentlemen or couple with child; the beds, the blankets, are clean. I will make a rate to permanent guests, remaining three months or longer. If you want a "home" better look see Elmont, 18 Quinsan Garden. North 844. 42021 O. 5

Ferrero On The Pacific Problem

BY GUGLIELMO FERRERO
(Famous Italian Historian)

"It is Easy to Predict Violent Naval Competition in the Pacific, Giving Rise to a Great War Unless It Is Agreed at Harding's Conference to Limit Armaments, Bar Special Alliances by Japan with Any Non-Asiatic Power, and Secure China's Integrity."

AN alliance between two States is always entered upon as a precaution against an enemy, present or future, real or presumed. Everybody knows who was the presumed enemy of England and Japan when they became allies—it was Russia. The British Empire concluded an alliance across the oceans with Japan, and helped its development to the utmost of its power that Japan might act as a check and barrier to the greatness and expansion of the Muscovite Empire in the Far East.

The Muscovite Empire has collapsed. The only power which can now wield a preponderating influence in the Far East is precisely Japan.

What then would be the object of the new Anglo-Japanese alliance, supposing it were renewed, seeing that its original scope has ceased to exist?

We can only see one aim in common between the two countries; the conquest of China. Or, to use a blander and perhaps more exact phrase; the preponderance of the two allied powers in Chinese affairs above all other powers —Asiatic, European or American.

China is probably destined to develop into a great world-travail and danger before long. The same tragedy which was enacted in Italy at the end of the seventeenth and the first half of the eighteenth century is being repeated in China, but in gigantic proportions. A civilisation much more ancient, mature and wise than the western civilisation, is no longer able, despite its wisdom, to withstand the weapons and modern devices of those who menace it from the north and the east.

In order to defend herself, China, too, stands in need of artillery, of steam engines, of railways and coal, and in order to obtain them she is forced to "westernise" herself, dropping overboard a good deal of her millennial wisdom.

During this crisis of transition, which began with the fall of the dynasty, China will be exposed to the most conflicting influences from Europe and America, to their doctrines, their capital and their trade.

About twenty years ago it was the fashion in all the European chancelleries, political circles and serious—or reputedly serious —papers to talk of slicing up the Celestial Empire as if it were a cake. These desires were later turned in other directions, but they might crop up again, stimulated by the very weakness of China, in this savage unleashing of passions and greed which is devastating the world.

Owing to its geographical position, its ethnical, historical and linguistic affinities and the power of which it disposes, Japan will be the principal and most dangerous of these would-be tutors. But it cannot remain alone and unchallenged, for it will have to face the competition of the leading European Powers and of the United States, which have already secured important interests in China.

Until she becomes sufficiently strong to shift for herself China is and will remain an open field for the struggle between the political and commercial rivalries of Western civilisation and the invading ambition of Japan.

The struggle for China, already intent during the ten years which preceded the World War, will now burst openly and fiercely. But in this struggle, after Russia's collapse, an Anglo-Japanese alliance might easily achieve an overwhelming preponderance, both as regards China and in respect of the other European and American States.

This is another result—nor the least important—of the World War. If England, at the end of the nineteenth century, encouraged Japan's development in order to counterbalance Russia's advance, Russia, on the other hand, up till 1914, counterbalanced Great Britain and Japan in the Far East. Now this equilibrium has ceased to exist. The prepondenance of the Anglo-Japanese alliance has not yet become manifest for various reasons.

England is still suffering from the effects of the World War, and is too deeply engaged elsewhere to launch on a dangerous adventure in China. Japan seems almost to have lost its bearings, owing to the outbreak of so many unexpected and revolutionary events, and appears uncertain as to which course to steer among so many wrecks and menaces. And it must be held in mind that the alliance had been concluded with entirely different ends in view.

But if the alliance be renewed, it will be very difficult for the contracting parties to resist the temptation of their overwhelming superiority, from which situation it is easy to predict that a violent competition in naval armaments will take place in the Pacific, giving rise, sooner or later, to a big war.

How can this hideous calamity be averted?

The conference which President Harding has called to meet at Washington may achieve much, if it finds a right opening.

The general idea seems to be excellent. Instead of attempting, as President Wilson, to build up a universal entente between all the Powers of the world, President Harding proposes to thresh out the leading political problems separately, in order to ascertain whether it is possible for the Powers more closely concerned with each problem to arrive at a friendly understanding.

For instance, it appears that he intends to submit the Pacific problem and the problems of Continental Europe for discussion separately by the representatives of the Powers directly interested therein.

I believe this is a better and more practical plan than the idea of a universal entente, as it will be easier to find the solution of each problem by circumscribing it.

In fact, thus isolated and considered by itself, even the problem of the Far East appears capable of solution. It will no longer be necessary to alter the course of history or to reconstruct the world from its foundations according to a new philosophical plan.

It will suffice if the Powers concerned will agree at the Washington conference to certain well-defined and precise terms and principles, the practical application of which requires only common sense, moderation and foresight.

I think that the principles necessary to maintain peace in the Far-East without too many sacrifices might be roughly outlined as follows:

1.—Japan not to contract special alliances with any non-Asiatic Power.

2.—Independence and territorial integrity of China.

3.—Limitation of armaments.

These three fundamental principles are indissolubly linked one to the other, and are not active and efficacious unless working together. Without the two first the reduction of armaments would be impossible. But it would be of little use to proclaim the independence and integrity of China if the Powers continued in their policy of greed.

All the powers should contribute with all their strength and influence to bring about the recognition of these principles if they do not wish the Pacific to belie its name.

Will these efforts prove successful?

It will depend mainly upon England and Japan. The readiness with which Great Britain has welcomed President Harding's initiative is, if sincere, of excellent omen. From many indications it appears that England begins to abandon the dangerous policy on which she had embarked after the armistice.

There remains Japan, a most disquieting riddle for the West.

What does Japan think, what are its ambitions, what are its aims?

Nobody knows. Japan remains silent and dumb in the midst of the peoples of the world; it looks on, observes, smiles, but never a word.

The Washington conference will not have been useless if it succeeds in unsealing the lips of this silent Sphynx.

Russia's Economic Resurrection

BY FRANCESCO NITTI
(Former Premier of Italy and One of the World's Foremost Authorities on the Political Problem of Europe.)

I have always been decidedly opposed to bolshevism, even when certain currents of opinion maninfested themselves in favor of recognising the republic of the soviets. It is impossible to recognise a State which is based on violence and which, in its relations with other States, almost invaribly has in view the accomplishment of an active revolutionary propaganda. At the very outside, limited commercial agreements might be arrived at, to the exclusion of cordial international relations.

Ancient Italy was, throughout her history, the most hospitable of countries; the cult of her "facials," or herald priests, was the cult of sound international laws. Rome extended a generous welcome to all religions, to all peoples. But even the most tolerant of States cannot recognise those who violate the laws of hospitality by promoting disorders in the countries which harbor them.

Unfortunately, if the complete absence of relations with Russia is harmful to the economic situation of the whole world, Italy may be said to be the greatest sufferer from this state of things. More than any other country Italy feels the severing of trade relations with Russia, because practically the whole of her commerce and consequently the price of freights and of merchandise have been based for over half a century on her traffic with the Black Sea.

WHY ITALY SUFFERS

The ships which left British ports with a full cargo for Italy usually went on to the Black Sea where they took in a cargo of oil, grain, etc., and returned to England after calling for extra cargo at Italian ports and for iron ore in Spain. For quite a long period Italy enjoyed very favorable freight and paid for her coal almost at the same rates at that which it was quoted in England.

Russia's present situation is therefore chiefly damaging to Italy. Great Britain has Mediterranean interests; France is partly a Mediterranean nation, but Italy is wholly and exclusively a Mediterranean nation. Although Italy has a special interest in resuming direct relations with Russia, the Italian Government has understood that the best and shortest way does not consist in a formal recognition of the Government of Moscow.

It must be confessed, however, that nothing is more deplorable than the policy hitherto followed by the countries of the Entente. Men belonging to the ancient regime have for a long time been treated as representatives of a still existing State, while, as a matter of fact, that State had ceased to exist. Some European countries have not only encouraged and helped every millitary enterprise against the Bolshevist Russia, but have recognised in these reactionary armies the real and legal government of Russia.

ASK UNJUST GUARANTEES

Finally, which is graver still, some of the countries of the Entente have subordinated their recognition to certain unjust guarantees on Russia's part, including the promise to fulfill all her obligations, including, above all, the payment of her pre-war debts.

It would have been impossible to follow a more mistaken course.

But two facts have taken place which are leading us, quite apart from and indeed in spite of any political action on our part, towards a new settlement of our relations with Russia.

The first is that all the military enterprises launched against the Government of Moscow have ended so disastrously that the Entente Governments have given up all idea of promoting fresh attempts. If history had ever taught anything, these grave errors might easily have been avoided. It was only after the military reverses of the generals of the old regime that western Europe finally opened her eyes and would have nothing more to do with the Denikins and Wrangels, in whom she had foolishly placed her trust.

The second fact, of first-rate importance, is Russia's steady and progressive abandonment of the Communist system.

COMMUNISM ON WANE

We cannot diagnose Bolshevism correctly with our western mentality. It is not a popular or revolutionary movement, but the religious danaticism of Eastern Orthodoxy grafted on to the trunk of Czarist despotism. The methods adopted by Lenin in establishing his supremacy do not differ fundamentally from those by which the Russian Empire, originally nothing but the Duchy of Muskovy, developed into the most colossal state of the world. Bureaucratic and centralising Bolshevism follows, without the slightest originality, in the political footsteps of Czarism.

But the most important phenomenon which we are now witnessing is that of the rapid collapse of Communist organisation. In all probability the outcome of the revolutionary avalanche which has submerged Russia will be, in a few years, a regime of small landed proprietors. Russian peasants nowadays do not go in for farming unless in their own interest, and have even abandoned time-honored forms of collective ownership in order to proclaim their faith in individual property.

The Government of Moscow itself, which up till last year appeared to be uncompromisingly intransigeant, has urged the Caucasian republics not only to recognise private property but also to spare no efforts in restoring trade with foreign countries on capitalistic lines. The necessity which it finds itself of resuming international trade relations has forced the Moscow Government to a series of concessions which are the very negation of Communism.

EXPERIMENT A FAILURE

Every day industry shows a more marked tendency to return to the old order; Communist production has proved itself to be such a miserable and incapable affair, so utterly lacking in energy, that the only means of salvation appears to lie in promoting and encouraging individual effort and interest.

The Russian Communist experiment may be regarded as a

IN HARMONY!

A Westminster constable recently failed to recognise Mrs. Asquith, but a certain police constable near Queen's Hall never fails to recognise Sir Henry Wood —the well known conductor. The acquaintance is of long standing, and Sir Henry's interest in the familiar figure was increased when he discovered, in the course of sundry brief chats that he was a keen and intelligent music lover.

One afternoon, on his way to rehearsal, Sir Henry missed the constable, who remained absent for several days. When he returned the famous conductor asked him for an explanation.

"Well, I syncopated for a fortnight, sir," answered the policeman; "but, thank goodness I'm back to the right beat again!"

Sally Sees The Stores

THE year's at the Fall. So whispered Jack Frost the other day when he nipped at my nose and jarred me from dream of midsummer. Suddenly I realized that pretty ginghams, crepes and sweet nothings must now be packed away and comfy new layouts for the entire household provided.

Whoever sang of melancholy days did so in the antebellum period of dyes. Gorgeous colors have turned dull summer into warm and glorious winter. Dyemakers must have understudied the Master Artist to get the effects I see in windows of Nanking Road as I bob along in my carriage. Sear and yellow leaf, frosty veiled persimmon, flaming hedges of sumach, and purple of southern sunset are in the pageant of fabric.

Duvetyne is a favored material and comes in exquisite shades. Of generous width, soft and rich in texture, it fashions well into full capes and coats and there will be enough of the small pieces left for a hat to match, combined with fur.

If a fur coat is elegant, a duvetyne one with fur lining is ultra elegant. It gives the impression that one can afford to wear fur for comfort even when it is not seen. A fur lined hood hung gracefully from the shoulders would complete an unusually smart garment.

So cogitating, I breezed into Whiteaway, Laidlaw & Co.'s (By the way we shall soon have to quit breezing in and begin steaming in). At first I thought I was in the wrong place. On my last shopping visit there bargain counters were everywhere in evidence. Prices were marked down and out for clearance and everybody was buying as if there would never be a chance again. Now the aisles are cleared. Shining show cases display fresh stock of merchandise reasonably priced and carefully bought. I saw there a big assortment of yarns in wanted shades, just the thing to make the knitting needles play into garments for comfort and show. Upstairs there was a big assortment of steamer rugs. My spirits were chilled with the fear that they would be beyond price of modest purse, but I found they were of wide range and all easily within reach. One soft, warm, silky, English mixture was priced at about half what it sold for last year, which shows that this firm is quick to give customers advantage of a factory fall in price.

Crossing the street I was drawn to a lovely window display of brown and burnt orange costume velvet at Hall & Holtz. Brown's in Town this year and surely headquarters there. From the graceful draping of these soft shades, I found myself picturing an afternoon gown made in straight lines, one piece effect, finished off with the pretty self toned flower and hand bag of brown and cloth of gold shown in the same window. A feather in rich, royal blue, which I saw there, would give an unusual and most artistic color departure, and milady could carry it as a fan hoping the room to be overheated.

A "walkover" to my carriage made me think of shoes. I know a man who amuses himself on the tram by studying footgear. He "sizes" up people by their shoes (unkind man!) and then looks up and over to see if he is right and he says he always is. Certain it is that shoes are a more and more important indication of personality. "Walkover" know how to shoe you. They have had international experience at it. I saw there black pumps and brown ones, French heels, Baby French, Cuban, low, and none at all; straps, ties, buttons, high shoes and low; and they fit; How beautiful are the feet. . . .

Being now well shod, I hurry along, but seeing the Chocolate Shop, figure I have time enough for a cup of tea. It is always hard for me to pass this hospitable tea room. The swinging chairs, cosy booths, carefully prepared food and reasonable prices make me think of Broadway at home. American Chocolate Shops have nothing over this one for fine candies and pastry.

Something "so different" lures me to zig-zag across the street to "Au Petit Louvre." I find perfectly stunning sweater coats in black and white stripe, or blue and white stripe, of soft material like ice wool, smart looking wraps more tailored than ordinary sweaters. Being so exclusive, I imagine they have only a few. I have never seen such lovely veils since I left New York, and probably not then, because these are French.

Squires, Bingham's Women's Section is a fine place for browsing—they are so nice to you when you are "just looking." Children's toggery there is so original, lovely little romper frocks of grass linen, blue and white, with touch of handwork. And there are pretty play aprons with fantastic embroidered pictures of animal creations, toys, Chinese dolls with cues, to delight the dear little ones. I saw there, also, a fine collection of beads and drops, white jade and carved ivory. Just looking is just buying at Squires Bingham's.

I think longingly of the other shops, but my carriage rent is up, and the cross-looking driver growls "Pony no chow," so I leave to come again.

complete failure, inasmuch as instead of proving an attractive example to the working masses, it has revealed itself as a short cut to utter disaster and ruin.

It does not follow, however, that Russia's present situation may be judged from a different standpoint than in the past. What is contrary to human nature can never be durable, and all that Communism could do was to heap up misery and ruin from which a new form of life may emergy, a form of life which we cannot as yet well understand or define. But Bolshevist Russia can rely on two elements which do not usually figure in our reckoning—the apathy and indolence of the people on the one side and a powerful military organisation on the other.

No people, save the Russian, would have resignedly undergone the immense misery and untold sufferings which many tens of millions of Russians appear to bear without complaint. But, on the other hand, it must be admitted that no other people plunged in so deep a morass of misery and suffering could possibly have organised and maintained so powerful and well disciplined an army as the army of revolutionary Russia.

Therefore, all those who fondly hope for the impending collapse of the Russia of the Soviets are destined to disappointment, as their hopes are based on the same ideas and prejudices which have hitherto rendered the policy of the Entente so absurd and contradictory.

Russia must still go through a long period of depression. It is not possible to count on a rapid revival of her economic activity, but we can easily foresee the disappearance of all forms of communistic production and the formation of landed property held by the peasantry.

ECONOMIC RISE SLOW

Russia's economic resurrection can take place but slowly but gradually, after so great a disaster, and necessarily with the help of Germany. The Germans alone will be able to revive the immense territories which war and revolution have laid waste; the Germans will reorganise the industries and create new sources of wealth. No other country of Europe could give Russia so numerous and productive an army of reconstruction; all are faced by too many difficulties to overcome and problems to solve in order to maintain the positions created by the war.

The end of the Russian communist regime will not come as a catastrophe but rather as a slow and continuous decline. Capitalistic production which the revolution had violently suppressed will rise up again as a very necessity of life; it will triumph over all the doubts and all the apathy of the Russian people. But the decisive work of the reconstruction will be slow and will not be completed until Europe has adapted herself to the conditions of the new equilibrium and until Germany, who seeks for life and space and is precluded from the sea, will apply her patient effort to the task.

We must continue in our policy of not recognising the government of the Soviets, but we must likewise abandon all thoughts of military enterprises which only result in attracting widespread sympathies to the Russian revolutionaries, including those of their bitterest enemies.

Humanity has now made so disastrous an experiment of communism that only madmen might be tempted to repeat it. And it is to be hoped that the fall of the communist regime and the return, however slow, to an individualistic economic system will be brought about by the same men who made the revolution. The laws of life will once more reveal themselves as being infinitely superior to any metaphysical program or to any ideological delusion.

It will be the same men of communism who, with new laws and new measures, will prepare the resurrection of capitalistic economy, the only one capable of exploiting to the advantage of mankind the immense riches buried in the earth and the priceless treasures of work and energy hidden away under the present veil of apathy which holds the Russian people as underneath a cloud.

TEXACO

the Asphaltic Paint

Use Texacoat anywhere that rust need be avoided. It is a liquid asphaltic coating which forms a tough and durable weatherproof skin over any surface to which applied, filling in crevices where rust has started. Use it on metal or composition roofing, structural steel, smokestacks, or any other like surface. You may experiment freely because Texacoat contains no ingredients harmful to wood, metal or concrete.

Texacoat is weatherproof because it is made of asphalt one of Nature's most effective waterproofing minerals. It will protect any surface from the action of weather, moisture, chemical fumes, salt air fumes, gas or smoke.

Keep a pail of Texacoat handy—it is easily applied with a brush, the same as any paint. Frequent use will save you money.

Vitafer
The All-British Tonic Food

"VITAFER" the most tried and tested of all British TONIC FOODS. Vitafer is specially suitable at this season of the year as a general tonic and pick-me-up, following such a distressing summer as Shanghai has just experienced. The general result of which is that a great number of people are run down in Health, Nervy, Irritable, Physically and Mentally exhausted.

A Tonic food such as Vitafer is the finest Doctor obtainable at this present time.

VITAFER as a source of Protein is strongly recommended in preference to any meat preparation, to those with weak digestive systems a course of this tonic food will build up so that a speedy improvement in appetite, weight, and general well being follows. Simultaneously with this rapid body nutrition glycerophosphates are nourishing and rebuilding the nerve forces overcoming depression and lassitude which are consequent on a run-down neglected condition of health. It will also greatly benefit those who suffer from Neuritis, Anaemia, Dispepsia, Brain Fag and Kindred Complaints.

Suitable alike for children and adults, in 8 oz. sealed bottles. Price $6.00 per dozen, cash with order.

SILK —

Was first cultivated in China 4000 years ago.

For centuries have the picturesque sampans, with their costly cargoes of silk slowly made their way down the Yangzte-kiang to the sea.

15 per cent of this Silk is exported to the United States which figure is increasing yearly.

In June the United States consumed 30,877 Bales of Silk.

It is the only manufacturing material that has not shown a decreased consumption in the past year.

The proper handling and financing of these cargoes is an important factor in the development of this trade.

THE ASIA BANKING CORPORATION
SHANGHAI
offers every facility for moving such cargoes.
